

Database Specification and Analysis

We will be using MySQL to manage the database. We will import the data and create a table or similar inside the database to make the information easier to read.